

Green Economics Institute

12TH JUNE 2017 / OXFORD

Green Perspectives on Migration, Changing the Narrative of Migration Debating the issues. My life according to me

Following our successful project last year about, Implications and opportunities for Green Activism to Foster Integration and successful outcomes from long and short term tools and methods, this year we approach the current Narratives of Migration and question the assumptions being made in the media and film. We notice that successful cities are often those with the largest migrant populations.

Migration has been portrayed as a contemporary European Crisis and a Crisis of the EU but migration has been a key feature of Europe for thousands of years. Climate scientists & economists warned that this would accelerate as global warming starts to erode crops & habitats, with sea level rise diminishing available land & desertification drives change, e.g. Syria. It is therefore no surprise that these stresses have led to geo political instability.

Greens foster integration and work hard to create new and vibrant new communities and societies whilst these changes are occurring. We examine important pathways to integration and innovations in the Refugee Journey. We continue exploring new ways to look at migration and launch a Film Festival where migrants will be speaking later in the year on film about their lives themselves.

Experts, Policy Makers & Specialist Speakers include: Dr Sushilla Dhall, Manager at The Refugee Resource Centre; Dr Hans Kare Flo Tekna Technical Trade Union Head of Research from Norway; Danika Formosa from the Ceratona Green Institute (Malta); Professor Guy Standing, an expert on today's European Workplaces and global shifts in production and labour (Switzerland), and author of several books; Specialist Migration Lawyer Dr Lavinia Tezza (Italy), with Green Experts & Policy Makers working in the field and 1st 2nd & 3rd Generation Refugees. This project will film interviews with experts and migrants to make a record of the new narratives and try to create a more balanced and useful debate and atmosphere. With economic migrants from various other countries.

Twitter: #@GreenEconomists

Web: www.greeneconomicsinstitutetrust.org

Email: info@greeneconomicsinstitutetrust.org

Program 14.00-18.00

14.00 – 14.30

Introducing the film festival project to change the Narratives of Migration, Aims and Background

14.30 – 15.00

Framing the Debate and introducing the drivers and causes of migration

15.00 – 15.30

The results and impacts of European Migration are felt all over the world

15.30-16.00

The migration journey over time - how it feels
Forced migrants, Refugees, and economic migrants, 1st 2nd and 3rd Generations

16.00-16.30

Working with migrants to help – what are their issues?

16.30 -17.00

European Labour implications
How the economy is set up and why we need to care. With experts discussing the real economy and labour market. Who are really the gainers and losers.

17.00 -18.00

Interviewing migrants about their journeys and, economic migrants, experts: 1st and 2nd and 3rd generation migrants for our U tube film to be used on our Migration Platform. Film Maker Dr.

David Newman

Information

Venue: St Hugh's College, University of Oxford

Date: 14.00-18.00 Monday June 12th 2017

Please register by email in order to reserve your place

info@greeneconomicsinstitutetrust.org